

How to Review Land Affecting a Mining Tenement (Quick Appraisal)

Transcript

In this video you will learn how to find out what land affects a mining tenement using the TENGRAPH Quick Appraisal function.

A Quick Appraisal Report lists a summary of land types affecting a mining tenement or a constructed polygon.

Start by loading a map through making an Enquiry. Please refer to the TENGRAPH Introductory video for instructions.

From the top task bar menu, select Process. From the drop down menu, select Quick Appraisal.

The Quick Appraisal dialogue box will open.

Select a mining tenement to appraise. In this example E51/1063 has been selected with the mouse.

The Quick Appraisal dialogue box provides some options to select from. In this case we will select all of them and click Apply.

You will need to click OK to the Quick Appraisal Disclaimer before the process will begin.

The appraisal process checks for spatial intersections with other land types and services plotted in TENGRAPH.

When the process is finalised any tenement encroachments are shown in the dialogue box.

Select the Dead Tenement button to see any dead tenement boundaries affecting the appraised tenement (E51/1063).

The shape of the tenement appraised (E51/1063) is yellow on the map. By clicking on an encroaching object in the dialogue box, the map will change to spatially represent the area in purple.

Click the Land button to see cadastre intersections.

Use the horizontal scroll bar to find out the area in hectares that is affected.

Additional information is available by clicking the Services and Native Title Information buttons.

Click on the Print button to create a printable PDF report summarising all land affected by the appraised object.

A link to the Quick Appraisals PDF report will be sent to your registered email address. You have the option to print or save the PDF.

Click on the link in the email to open the quick appraisal report.

The report also gives you additional information such as the tenement holder, vesting and native title claimant details.
